Move over, movies: the freshest storytelling today is on television, where the multi-episodic format is used for rich character development and innovative story arcs. Directors Tell the Story offers rare insight and advice straight from two A-list television directors whose credits include Monk, Grey's Anatomy, Desperate Housewives, Weeds, and more. They direct dramas and comedies using the same process that Steven Spielberg (or any other movie director uses)-just with less money and time.

This comes from always trying to tell the story in the first person--which, in "affect" (no mistaken usage here)--is me! When I tried writing from three different points of view as an exercise, it became obvious to me that I really need to know my characters. And letting them tell the story in their own voice forces me to really get to know them!
