It's easier to accept the emotions we feel when a chapter closes in our lives when we can visualize that part as a small chapter in the big book that holds the story of our lives. While I'm sad that the "Spencer/Living in Chicago" time is over, I'm excited to find out what the next chapters of my life will be.

Often, we don't understand how we move through chapters in life until later, like we can't see it while we're in the middle of it. Some of our chapters lead us to great things and some lead us to less than ideal outcomes. To demonstrate, I want to share a story about what happened at the end of one of my life chapters and what I learned ...
